

Taiwan Mandarin Chinese Language Teachers Program

In response to the growing demand of Chinese language learning, and in order to foster international educational exchange, the Ministry of Education (MOE) in Taiwan, establishes the “Taiwan Mandarin Chinese Language Teachers Program” to encourage Taiwan’s professional Chinese language teachers to teach in Paraguayan universities or schools, in addition, implements training programs to help prepare teachers for teaching posts overseas.

Eligibility of the teachers’ candidate(s) from Taiwan

The teachers are highly qualified; basic requirements include the following:

1. Having obtained a “Certificate of Teaching Chinese as a Second Language” awarded by MOE.
2. Must have a bachelor degree or above.
3. Possess teaching Chinese as a second language experience.

Allowances sponsored by Taiwan’s MOE

For schools that recruit Mandarin teachers from Taiwan, the MOE provides teachers with the following upon approval, as a supplement to the salary furnished by the schools:

1. Living stipend: USD1,500 per month per teacher for 12 months. May be extended up to 4 years for the same teacher, upon approval.
2. One round-trip economy airfare up to USD 2,200.
3. One-time lump sum textbooks and/or teaching materials allowance of USD300.

The above mentioned subsidy will be disbursed directly to the selected Mandarin teachers.

Matching sponsorship from the overseas schools

1. Competitive salary (o accommodation/ homestay including meals)
2. Standard benefits (medical, dental insurance and others)

Application Procedures

1. Interested institutions (schools) please send an official letter to indicate your interests in working with MOE, along with a “Request Form ” to provide the following details: numbers of openings, qualifications (certification, language skill, degree and others), employment period, salary, benefits, Job description, working hours, target students and others.
2. MOE will announce the recruitment accordingly and La Oficina de Consejero de Educación de la Embajada de la República de China (Taiwán) will forward application materials collected from candidates to the hiring institutions.
3. Hiring institutions may set up interviews with the applicants and make the final selection directly from the approved list of candidates provided by MOE.

Note

A native speaker brings an authentic and international perspective to the classroom— from which students, parents and educators can all be benefited. To better prepare students to meet the challenges of the 21st century, MOE also actively supports the “Taiwan Mandarin Chinese Teaching Assistants Program”. If your institution intends to bolster and accelerate language teaching and cultural experiences by recruiting widely recognized teaching assistants, or even establish an enriching educational exchange with a school in Taiwan, please contact Education Counselor's Office of the Embassy of the Republic of China (Taiwan) in Paraguay for details.
